NEW LADIES' MINISTRY TO BEGIN

The isolation we are experiencing in our time is relatively new. Only a couple of generations back, mothers had their children at home with the help of a midwife. Neighbors and friends came from all over the community with baby items, food and advice . . . based on experience.

Babies don't come with instruction manuals. I remember when we brought our first baby girl home from the hospital. We were scared. What if we did something wrong and she got sick and died?! What if she quit breathing during the night? What if . . . What if . . .?!

What do you do when you have your first marital fight? What do you do when your husband says, "We are not going to your parents' house for Christmas this year!?" How do you handle a bossy mother-in-law? What do you do when your husband insists that the weekends are his time to spend with his buddies?

Well, you complain about it on Facebook for the whole world to see. Or, you get your advice from Pinterest! Or from peers (who know less than you do)!

That's all about to change for ladies in our church family. The Bible instructs older women in the church to train younger women about marriage, home and life skills (Titus 2:3-5).

A ministry specifically designed to promote this very thing is about to be launched here at WOCC. It is called Heart to Home. It is a women's ministry designed to help you develop "closer friends, a better marriage, great kids and a spiritually strong family."

Interested? See Janis Stegall or Kendra Blake for details.
