Volume XXIII—Issue 43

A Golden Opportunity

There is something for everyone to do. In fact, it will only truly be successful if you are involved. Friends Day . . . it's for everyone. The measure of success is not only how many visitors attend (though I must admit—that's important), it is also important that each family member be involved. There are numerous ways for you to be part of this annual effort.

First of all, everyone is asked to take at least five invitation cards and give them out to friends and neighbors. There are envelopes available if you choose to mail them; you can personally give them to a friend, or you can stick them in the neighbor's door.

Also, everyone is asked to break your routine of immediately talking to friends and family by immediately locating a visitor and welcoming them. Don't allow anyone to leave without having been greeted warmly and invited to stay for lunch.

We encourage everyone physically able to park off site in the park or school parking lot. This will ensure that our guests can easily find parking. Also, we ask everyone who is willing to bring a dessert for our meal. Everything else (roast, potatoes, vegetables and drinks) will be provided.

Then we need lots of volunteers: volunteers to assist the teachers in children's classes, greeters—in the foyer and in classes, people to help visitors locate classrooms, parking attendants, setup/cleanup, kitchen help/servers. The list goes on.

There is a place for you. This is a family affair. Don't be a spectator. Jesus said, "I am among you as one who serves." This is a golden opportunity to serve.

-Ken Stegall
